REMINISCING

By Sandra O'Brien Mitchell

Where have they gone, the years we used to know
When we were young and so carefree.
We'll never lose those youthful childhood days,
They're living in our memory.

The places where we used to wander
Don't seem the same as years go by.
When we remember those youthful happy days
Sometimes we laugh, sometimes we cry.

We've lived, we've learned, and we shall pass along
To those who follow along this way -
Our sons and daughters and those whose lives we've touched -
The knowledge of that yesterday.

As time moves on, we go our separate ways
But we hold one truth as old friends part.
God holds us all within His mighty hands.
And we hold each other within our hearts.

Understanding Your Child

PARENT AS TEACHER

By the time a child is four years old, almost half of his general intelligence has already been formed! And by the time he has reached the age of six, he will already have developed about two-thirds of the intelligence he will have as an adult.

Doesn't this say something to you about a child's early education in the home?

Dr. William H. Nault, editorial director of World Book Encyclopedia and Childcraft, points out that a child who gets the right opportunities to grow intellectually will also develop confidence and have a sturdier emotional framework than one without such challenges. He says that the most important tip for parents is to stress vocabulary and verbal comprehension in teaching children and playing with them, since these are will the best single predictors of reading and general academic success.

"The South 40" by JAMES A. SMITH EXTENSION AGENT

Green Beans are plagued with problems regardless of whether they are pole, half runners, or standard. We've seen a lot of red spider mites, mosaic and this past week we found several examples of root rot. The big problem with beans throughout the eastern U.S. is a new disease of beans called Peanut Stunt Virus. This virus has been around for quite a while on peanuts but now it's found the green bean a desirable host. The disease is transmitted by aphids.

Half runners appear to be the most seeiously affected. They are at least three half runner varieties available to you. The first choice would be State because it is resistant to mosaic and nematodes. Second choice is Roanoker; however, it is only resistant to mosaic. Don't plant white half runners; they are too susceptible to disease.

It's good to note that R. M. Harris and his father have increased their per acre output of milk by 1244 pounds and butterfat by 40 pounds in the past year.

Their first calf heifers are projected at 1500 pounds of milk and 35 pounds of fat over the older cows. This is the kind of improvement we like to see.

Records in dairy, beef or swine herds are the basis of improvement. Without records you don't know where you have been, you don't know where you are and you don't know where you are going.

Irish potatoes may keep better in the ground if they are well bedded than they will in many basements. Harvesting could be delayed another month in many cases.

Don't forget to pull some soil samples and be ready to treat fescue pastures for winter grazing. Heavy nitrogen calls for liming.

The world's population reached 4 billion on March 28 of this year; twice the number 46 years ago.

A large number of black locust trees are turning brown. This is caused by a small insect called leaf miner. There is no practical control of this insect.

The Tobacco Field Day at the Southern Piedmont Research Station is scheduled for next Thursday. The Dark Fire Cured Program begins at 9:00 A.M. and the Flu Cured Program at 1:30. I trust that there will be a good representation for Appomattox.

Nonination forms for the four feeder sales will be mailed next Tuesday. The time schedule for cosigning is real important. For the growth feeder calf sale of September 30 we need 100 of the best calves produced in this country cosigned.

We have only 28 in the Dark Fire Cured Tobacco recognition Program. Last year there were 66. Each year Appomattox has had the most entrants. The program will close out enrollment as of August 1; therefore, we need to get your application in today.
